For that Hot Drink at the Midnight 'Feed'

Say, fellows, did it ever occur to you how nice it would be to have a regular little flameless cooking outfit to heat drinks, shaving water, anything? Here it is: The 2 1/2 lb. HOTPOINT ELECTRIC IRON, attached to any lamp socket, serves as the stove when placed in the invertino stand; and the covered dish (holds three cups) fits right on top of the iron. Utitty Iron may be used for pressing. Also has hole in rear for heating curling tongs. Think of what a useful, welcome gift this neat little outfit (packed in its leather bag) will be for "HER." A dandy, eh?

Fine Lecture To Nomads on Scottish Poet

Professor Macnaughton Describes the Ideals and Art of the Poet Burns

The Nomads Club was extremely fortunate in the matter of speakers, when Prof. John Macnaughton spoke, Monday evening, on "Robert Burns." Prof. Macnaughton, as a Scotchman, was able to appreciate every shade of that varied character who has earned his right to an honored place on the Pantheon heights of our literature. In his own inimitable, clear and forceful manner, the professor presented the bard of Scotland as a man—a man who knew his weaknesses (as who of us does not?) yet who cherished the highest ideals and felt the deepest love and sympathy for all. Then the art of the sweet singer was dealt with. He was most aptly likened to the Mavis ruffling his breast and singing his songs of homey themes; to the skylark, with his transcendent glory and richness of song; and to Browning's "wise thrush," who "sings each song twice over."

Let you should think he never could recapture The first fine careless rapture!

The address surpassed the conception of the most devoted admirer of Burns in the audience, to those who were still on the fringe of their knowledge of him it opened doors leading into vast and hitherto unthought of treasure halls of sweet song and human sentiment—to all it was an unparalleled treat.

A Steeplejack Climbs Power House Chimney

The Aerial for New Wireless is Now Being Placed in Position

The figure of a man dangling by a slender rope from the top of the chimney of the McGill power house, 175 feet in the air, has attracted the attention of a large number of students and others who have been in the vicinity of the college during the last few days. The man is Mr. Woods, professional steeplejack and his business, the installation of one of the aerials for the wireless equipment loaned to the university by the Dominion Government. The aerial is to stretch from the power house chimney to the Engineering Building.

Last Tuesday morning when most of the population of the city was peacefully sleeping, Mr. Woods and his colleagues were steadily making their way towards the summit of the chimney by means of its interior. The chimney stands 175 feet above the ground and some fifty feet from the roof of the building itself. Having arrived at this height, the men coolly set about their dangerous work, commencing by removing a number of bricks from the masonry so that the wires might be attached. The wires were banked while the men made their ascent and they now work by means of block and tackle.

Chemical Soc. Hears Lecture On Artillery

Mr. Werner Describes Manufacture of Big Guns and Projectiles

MODERN GUNS CAST IN SEVERAL PARTS

Interesting Lantern Slides Illustrate Different Stages of the Process

At the regular meeting of the Chemical Society, held yesterday afternoon, in the Chemistry Building, Mr. S. W. Werner gave a lecture on the "Manufacture of Big Guns."

By means of an excellent collection of lantern slides, the speaker traced the production of guns from the earlier attempts in this direction up to the gun of the latest type.

Dealing with modern manufacture, the methods of casting the ingot, boring the tube, turning to size, etc., were shown.

The temporary process is carried out by heating the tube in furnaces supplied by producer gas, and then dropping it in a vertical tank of oil. This inner tube is fitted into another (A-tube) after which it is sent to the wire winding department. After wire of the dimensions 1-8 inch thick and 1-16 inch wide is wound upon the tube, the outer tube is then shrunk upon these parts. When the gun is "rifled," the breech-block is screwed on, oil chambers for recoil and sights are next attached. The average cost of producing such an instrument is about $60,000.

On the surface of projectiles a copper band is placed and this being larger than the bore of the inner tube of the gun, thereby renders a gas-tight fit of the projectile into the gun tube; thus the full force of the explosion is exerted upon the projectile.

In the manufacture of armor plates the steel is cast into a ingot which is reheated and rolled or subjected to hydraulic pressure to the required size, after which the plate undergoes a cementation process. For cutting and bending the plates hydraulic pressure is again employed.

After a hearty vote of thanks to the lecturer for a most interesting address, the meeting adjourned.

That Sch of Journalism

P. D. ROSS, B.A., Sc., President and Managing Director of the Evening Journal, Ottawa. Non-Resident Fellow of McGill University for Journalism

"I feel it difficult to come to a mental conclusion about the idea for the reason that McGill's means are limited. There is no question in my mind about the desirability of a School of Journalism for any University whose means are large. McGill, I suppose, means to cut her coat according to her cloth."

"If I may assume that money can be provided without taking it from what might be of greater direct University value, I imagine that a School of Journalism would be a good business step for the University. It would certainly be a big thing for the public."

"First, as regards the University value. A School of Journalism would probably flourish. A man going out of college with some knowledge of journalistic essentials would find immediate position at a living wage. Daily newspaperdom in the western provinces of the Dominion is becoming fairly well-to-do; while in the West newspaper work is opening up with great rapidity. And Canada has come to a stage when a fair compensation is (Continued on page 2.)

The Theologs. Argue Ably on Conscription

Resolved: "That Great Britain Should Have Conscription" Was Wording of Question

THE NEGATIVE WON DECISION

The Different Phases of the Question Brought Out in Concise Arguments

The intertheological collegiate debate which has aroused great interest throughout the university, was held last evening in the Ferrier Hall, before a large audience. The biding divines were all out and with the usual appendages numbered well over three hundred.

The first item was a pianoforte solo by Mr. E. Smith. This was rendered with a fine, sympathetic touch.

Rev. S. P. Rose, D.D., who was the chairman for the evening, then spoke briefly and said that the only reason he could think of why he had been chosen for this position was that sometimes he knew when to keep quiet. This was, he said, his reputation, and he meant to live up to it. He then read the subject of the debate: "Resolved: That Great Britain should have conscription." The affirmative was to be upheld by G. T. McCormack of the Anglican College, and Mr. G. A. Sisco, of the Wesleyan. The negative speakers were P. V. Sampson, B.A., of the Congregational and Ken McLean, B.A., of the Presbyterian College.

The first speaker was the leader of the affirmative, Mr. McCormack. He said that it was due to the conscript armies of Belgium, France and Russia that Germany has been held in check. If it had not been for these quickly mobilized armies, while Britain was raising an army, the Huns would have swept on unchecked through France, Russia and thence to England and England's colonies. He said that in the words of Lord Newton, the English system was one in which nineteen men conspired to make the twentieth assume military duties of the whole. Military training is incumbent upon all (Continued on page 2.)

VERMONT OFFER INDOOR MEET

Just to show the chances offered by the indoor meet to be held a week to-day, a letter has been received from Vermont University asking to arrange a dual meet with McGill in Montreal. They ask for a date around March 20, and want a guarantee of $125. The idea is fine, and under different circumstances the track executive would likely take up the offer, but owing to the unusual cash stringency this year, it is thought that for the present, our own home meet will have to do us. The date also is not very satisfactory to us, as it is getting rather close to exams, but next year it is very probable that something like this would be sought for by McGill; possibly an intercollegiate meet with Toronto. Last year Toronto mentioned the matter themselves, and if such a meet should take place, it would likely develop into another chance for men to win their big M's.

money (seventy-five cents) for the performance on February 5th. As to the play itself—but that's another story.

What McGill Men Say of Dr. Mott

Principal Peterson, Graduates and Prominent Students Give Appreciations of Him

W. GORDON BROWN, Arts '04, Sc. '07, and now of New Haven:—

I well remember the first time I heard Dr. Mott. It was at a series of meetings held here at McGill some twelve or thirteen years ago, and the impression which he made on me then and which the intervening years have strengthened was that of power, of dominant force. There is that in him which gives one the idea of a tremendously strong man, a man dominated by a single purpose. There lies the secret. His one purpose in life is to do the will of God as he sees it, and that has meant devoting all his time and energy to making the Kingdom of God more real to men, especially to students, and bringing his claims insistently before them. It has been the very spirit of God working in him which has been able to bring about the things we say he has done. Judge for yourselves when you hear him.

E. RUSSELL PATERSON, Arts '09, and Past Secretary of the Hall:—

The difference between a great man and an ordinary man is a matter of personality. You cannot be within sight or sound of Dr. Mott without recognizing that he is a truly great man because you will marvel at the extraordinary personal power he possesses. I have seen him away an audience of eight thousand in a way surpassing the power of any other speaker I have heard. I have also watched him yield hammer and saw at his country home, and still I believe him to be one of the greatest men in the world—which is a greater testimony. Were he scheduled to speak on any subject from religion to recruiting, I would eagerly drop everything else for the privilege of again coming under his influence.

cool-headed and able to work at any height that his duties may require of him. Should he, at any time, become dizzy while working at such great heights as those to which his calling takes him, his chances for safety are slight indeed. It is, therefore, only after years of practice that a steeplejack becomes sufficiently proficient to ascend high buildings with any degree of safety. The two men who are now working on the aerial installation have had a great deal of experience in the work.

Mr. Woods expects to finish the work at the power house by next Saturday at midnight, weather permitting.

PRINCIPAL PETERSON Having heard great accounts of Dr. John R. Mott's work in Oxford and Cambridge and in the different university centres of the world, I learn with satisfaction that he is to visit McGill the evening of JANUARY 28th.

I hope that every student will avail himself of the opportunity of hearing what so worthy a man has to say to them on some of the highest and best interests in life.

FRANK COMMON, Arts '13, Law '17, Leader of the Rooters' Club:—

If I were asked to what living man McGill students could most profitably give their attention, I would answer, "John Mott." The reason for this answer lies in the accumulated results of the life long study which Dr. Mott has made of student conditions as they exist in the great universities of the world. If any man in McGill intends to absent himself from the approaching meetings because he thinks that Dr. Mott does not understand, or will not take cognizance of, the difficulties which beset the student, let him follow Mott's advice he might get on better, nor one who has heretofore made such a mess of his college career, but that by heeding Mott's words he might turn a failure into a success. No ambitious student will miss hearing him.

NEW OFFICERS FOR THE R. M. C.

Reported That Those Convalescing Are to be Sent Here

There is a rumor that it is the intention of the Imperial War Office to send convalescing officers from England to the staff of the R.M.C. and sent the officers now on the staff of the college to the front.

Nothing official has been received from the college, but the staff have heard that this was the intention of the War Office, and are hoping that it is true, as this will give them an opportunity to get to the front.

The sending of capable officers, who have had experience in the present war, will be a decided advantage to the military college, and to Canada, so it is said in military circles.

The above appeared in the Kingston Standard for Monday.

HARRY BEATTY, Arts '15, Ex-President of the Daily, etc., etc.:—

When I heard Dr. Mott at Northfield last summer the outstanding feature about him was his knowledge of students and their life. His ideas are so practical, his arguments so strong, and his personality so magnetic, that he impressed me as a man whom every student ought to hear.

ROLF STRUTHERS, Arts '14, Med. '17, President of the Harrier Club:—

A visit to the Northfield Conference is one of the few "best things" in any man's college course, and Dr. Mott's addresses are the outstanding feature of every conference. It is indeed a rare honour for McGill to have Dr. Mott as a visitor—and every man ought to turn up to his meetings.

Dr. H. L. BRONSON, Head of the Department of Physics, Dalhousie University; ex-Professor of Physics at McGill:—

McGill, Queen's and Toronto are certainly very fortunate in being able to get Dr. Mott for a series of meetings this year. Those of us who have been at Northfield probably realize better than others what his visit may mean for the moral and spiritual life in our Canadian institutions. His even we only half appreciate the influence which Dr. Mott has exerted on students, not only on this continent but throughout the world. I suppose no other man lives to-day who has been more instrumental in helping students out of their religious doubts and difficulties and in inspiring them to lives of larger usefulness. I hope McGill men will make the most of this opportunity to hear and talk with Dr. Mott.

DR. MOTT

It has been announced that the R.V.C. students are to be granted the privilege of attending the opening meeting of the Mott campaign. Dr. Mott is an exceptionally brilliant speaker and every girl should make an effort to hear him. An address to the R.V.C. students only has been arranged for Friday afternoon. This will be held in the Common Room, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. Anyone who has heard Dr. Mott knows that there is real pleasure in listening to him.

R. V. C. '18

The class of R.V.C. '18 met yesterday for the purpose of electing speakers in the Impromptu Public Speaking Competition, which is being held to-day. The following were elected: Miss Grace Gardner, Miss Ruth Rogers, and Miss Florence Walker.

McGILL JUNIORS LOSE THEIR SECOND GAME

Victorias' Combination Was Too Strong for McGill Team—Checking Back of Vics. Good

SECOND HALF PRETTY CLOSE

McGill Had the Advantage of Score in the Last Period but Could Not Even Up

In the Junior game last night between Victorias and McGill Juniors, the latter got pretty badly beaten by the score of 4-2.

The play started fairly close to 7 p.m., and the puck during the first 5 or 10 minutes was pretty evenly owned by both teams in turn. The game went up and down with alternate line rushes of either team, with some pretty combination of lines.

Martin, for Victorias, early got away for a good rush, loses the puck to McKenzie, playing defence for McGill, who brings it down on a return rush. In another scuffle round McGill's goal, Victorias nearly scored, but it was off-side and a face followed. Ritchie, for McGill, played a good game. McGill began to lose a little of her combination which is Victorias' strong point.

Some close checking followed. Ritchie went up and shot, but the puck went wide, leaving the goal open. The game ended without effect. Victorias went up the ice two together, Aird and Ross giving some nice combination play. Ross, of McGill, shot to no effect, then McGill got close in on some good combination but an off-side occurred and rush was useless.

Victorias played a splendid game in checking. They not only stopped their man on the follow back, but they took the puck away and started back again. Lyons made a good run but was repeatedly stopped at Vics' defence, owing to lack of support, chiefly. Clark played a good game, being kept very busy handling most of the shots well.

McKenzie went up for a good run. Play consisted chiefly of alternate rushes, ending in shots, the play getting fast, too.

On a good run down three abreast, Aird, Ross and Hooper score between them, after about 15 minutes play. Following this the hockey was chiefly around McGill's goal, our men being unable to get away from Victorias' close checking.

Aird, of Victorias, put off for 2 minutes for tripping. Clark makes a good stop. McGill's lack of combination is more and more apparent. Martin, of Vics, makes a good run up, but Blair, of McGill, changes for Gibb.

MacDermot, for Lyons, Vics score 4 more before half time is called, solely on account of superior combination and fast checking back.

Nicholson, McGill, makes a good stop. Down just before the end of the first period and nearly score, only missing because of faulty passing.

"At half time, Parsons took the place of Ritchie for a short time. He did not have the wind or speed of the regular centre man. McGill starts off well, with lots of speed and energy, but Vics, fine checking game still forms an almost impassable obstacle to goal getting.

The forward line of Victorias race right down and after some splendid combined play, scored on the shot. Parsons at centre is not excelling himself.

Gibb getting more shots now, but Jacques clears all of them. Nicholson goes down only to be edged off to the corner, following a mix-up in front of goal. Victorias scored another. Ritchie goes on for Parsons. McGill rushes puck right up quick after, but they always stop at the defence of Victorias while Vics' rushes usually are finished by a couple of passes, ending in a shot.

Gibb goes on for Ross. Succession of Vics rushes. Nicholson goes up and has a pass to his wing gets McGill's first goal. Lyons is playing a hard game. Nicholson and Patterson get 2 minutes each for mixing it up.

Gibb, for McGill, goes up and shoots a second goal. Ritchie makes a good run, McKenzie is checking well. Paul Clark has just now a shower of shots, but clears them all. Play wavers back and forth with Victorias playing good "comb." Clark makes a good stop. Four McGill men go up but with only 2 men to pass they fail to score. Nicholson for Gibb. McGill's goal is playing a good game, but in a scuffle, Victorias score again.

After this the game presented little more good play before the end.

One noticeable thing was the noise made by the Victorias supporters in comparison with the pitiful shouts of McGill supporters. The intermediate team will have to play better next time to beat Green's and a practice is hoped to be arranged before that date.

The teams lined up as follows:
Victorias—Jacques, goal; Clark, Martin, defence; Lyons, Patterson, defence; McKenzie, Aird, centre; Ritchie, Hooper, right; Gibb, Ross, left.
Goal-keeper—H. O'Leary.
Umpire—Gallagher.

BASKETBALL MEN PREPARING FOR VARSITY GAMES

Varsity Reported to Have a Strong Team and Are Confident of Winning on Friday

With the Varsity game scheduled for Friday next, the McGill Senior Basketball squad are losing no time in getting into condition for a gruelling contest. Last night at the Central Gym, they had a fast work-out with the seconds. The practice was snappy and full of pep from start to finish. Although the seniors always manage to trim the intermediates, the latter always give them a good run. In last night's practice both teams showed considerable improvement in shooting and especially in combination. Harry Ferguson and George Willscroft, the senior guards, are beginning to feel more at home, as it were, and are improving in their combination with the forwards.

Friday's game with Varsity will undoubtedly count a great deal in the championship race.

Last year McGill and Varsity were tied for the championship laurels at the end of their schedule. This made it necessary to play an extra game. After a most exciting and keenly contested match, McGill won the championship by two points.

In their game with Queen's last Friday, the McGill quintette showed that they are in no respect inferior to last year's championship team.

The Varsity team has been training hard for Friday's match and feel confident that they can take the McGill team "into camp" as the following article from Monday's "Varsity" shows:

"The result of the game between McGill and Queen's in Kingston, showed the strength of the McGill team. Varsity is working daily to get into the best of shape for the game this coming Friday and feel confident that with good support, they will be able to take last year's champions into camp. Among the new men into this year are McLean, Matheson, Knox and Gilley. The first three men were away with the team on their trip and showed excellent form. The work of McLean at forward was a revelation to the American fans, while Matheson performed consistently at centre. Knox also showed up well at defence when called upon. Gilley was unable to make the trip, but is fast running into one of the best centres, the team has had in recent years.

Captain Preston is back in the game in earnest after managing the team for two years. He and McLean are showing exceptional speed and basket-getting ability, reminding one of the Brock-Boddy combination of former years. The old defence, Zimmerman and Thompson, are back again and the McGill forwards will have a difficult time getting away from this pair. Thompson is one of the best defence men playing in these parts and can always be depended upon for a fine exhibition.

The second team is scheduled to play Western University in the preliminary game. They have been practising faithfully with the first team, and under the watchful eye of Manager Philpott are shaping up as a well-balanced team. In the line-up will be Philpott at centre, Jack O'Connor, the rugby star, "Babe" Mills of the champion "Climbers" of Hamilton, Chandler, who has played so well for the last two seasons and Bestley, of last year's team. Champions. Others out are Poupore, Porter and Pearson.

The line-up of the two teams follows:
Arts '15—Le, Henry, Symonds, Hall, W. Henry, Martin, Maguire, Rutherford, Nicholson.
Arts '16—Gold, Kerr, Steve Allan, T. Ritchie, Maguire, Cassidy, MacDermot.

In a fast and exciting game of hockey at noon yesterday, the Med. 19 class team trimmed Med. 18 by 7 goals to 3.

The winners displayed better form and endurance as well as a superior brand of hockey. They assumed the lead early in the game and had the better of the play throughout the game, by reason of their clever combination and hard work.

The losers were inclined to rough at all times and managed to get away with some very questionable tactics. The referee was of the extreme watchfulness of the referee.

For Med. 19, Lowry and Armistage starred, showing all kinds of speed. Whiehon put up a good game in goal. He was steady and stopped some hot shots.

"Dud" Ross and Williamson played well on the defence for Med. 18.

CARDINAL BANNER TO WAVE OVER THE STANFORD CAMPUS

The Gift of the Board of Trustees, it will be Floated on Big Athletic Days.

A huge, new Cardinal banner will soon float on the Stanford campus.

The banner, to be the gift of the Board of Trustees to the University Student Body, is being made in San Francisco now, and will be sent to the campus soon.

It will be thirty feet long and twelve feet wide, narrowing from the staff to the free end. It is red, and will have large white letters spelling "Stanford" on it.

It is the idea of the board of directors to have the banner floated on athletic days, just as the Stars and Stripes are floated on national holidays on the giant Arlington flagpole.

The board of directors planned the gift when they came to the campus some time ago, and noticed the lack of a banner on the pole on that day, which was the time of a big athletic event. The banner is the result of their careful observation.

The new banner will be perpetual, a new one being provided for when the one in use wears out.

ARTS HOCKEY MEN ARE BUSY THIS AFTERNOON

Seniors Play Juniors and Sophomores Meet Freshmen in a Double-header Today

GREAT RIVALRY BETWEEN TEAMS

Both Games Have an Important Bearing on the Championship and Should be Closely Contested

The opening game of class hockey in Arts will be played today at 1 p.m. on the Campus rink. The contestants will be Arts '15 and '16. Arts '15 feel exceedingly confident, and well they should when one considers the galaxy of stars Manager Fraser and Captain Skinner have got together. Two years ago Arts '15 won the championship of Arts, and last year were runners up for the championship. However, by the hardest luck Arts '15 managed to defeat their better. This year even better things, than in the past, are expected of the senior team.

Captain "Don" Skinner is well known to all those who have followed class hockey. Two years ago he was manager of the Third team. He really became famous as the star of Arts '14. He is at his best this year. Paul Clark in goal needs no praises. He catches anything that comes his way. Oliver and O'Halloran play well on defence. They are even brilliant in spots. Gibbs is as good as forward as he is on defence. Rexford, Werry and Beatty are a wonderful trio. "Peep" is their middle name. Mr. W. C. Ross is a "phenom" from British Columbia. He played in the "Robbie" Fraser is well supplied with substitutes. He has Robertson and Upham who, together, are the equal of any one man. They play equally well in any position. Further, if the worst comes to the worst, they are suffering from the unfortunate accident of last year, may even be prevailed upon to play.

Notwithstanding the fact that their opponents are a "galaxy of stars," the Arts '15 men feel confident of winning their game today. The personnel of this year's team is practically the same as that of last year's fast aggregation. Arts '16 have three good men in Barrett, Hibbard and Parkin, who are showing exceptional speed and basket-getting ability, reminding one of the Brock-Boddy combination of former years. The old defence, Zimmerman and Thompson, are back again and the McGill forwards will have a difficult time getting away from this pair. Thompson is one of the best defence men playing in these parts and can always be depended upon for a fine exhibition.

COACH RICE HAS ONLY THREE MEN LEFT FOR EIGHT

Columbia University Crew Coach Is Confronted With a Hard Problem to Develop Eight to Equal Last Year's

With only three members of last year's championship eight available this year, Coach J. C. Rice of the Columbia University crew candidates is busy trying to develop new men to fill the vacant places in the varsity eight which will represent the blue and white in the championship event of the intercollegiate rowing association on the Hudson river, June 28.

That Coach Rice will find it a hard proposition developing a crew this year that will equal that of 1914 on the material at hand is admitted, but following the blue and white are confident that he will develop an eight that will be able to make a strong showing. A new stroke must be developed and practically all of the eight will have to come from the junior squad of last season. In years past Coach Rice has started out the season with an untrained and comparatively small squad of oarsmen and started college circles with a wonderful eight ready to go. The graduation of C. J. McCarthy, who stroked the winning eight, and Capt. Irving Hassell, who rowed at No. 7, are the most serious losses. They were two of the best oarsmen who ever sat in a Columbia shell. Stoddard Pitt is another splendid oarsman who is lost to the crew this year, and the strength and determination found in Rothwell will be hard to fill.

Graduate Manager Harry Fisher has arranged three races for the varsity. Early in May Columbia will meet Princeton and Pennsylvania in their annual triangular race over the Carnegie cup course for the Childs' cup. On Decoration Day all three Columbia crews will row in the Harlem regatta.

Entry lists have been made up, and will be found in both the Union and the Strathcona Hall. Big Chief Lamb will have another list in his possession, as also will Eric Cushing and Dan Sutherland. It is expected that extra sheets will be needed for all of these lists in order to accommodate all those who intend to try their luck.

An entirely unexpected phase of the matter is now being considered by the executives of the track club and the athletic association. The meet has assumed such large proportions that it is now expected that it will not only become a regular annual event in college athletics, but will rank with the college sports in importance, allowing the winning of block M's, class numerals, etc. A college half holiday was one of the improvements planned for next year, while it has already been decided that records made last year, or broken in this coming meet, will be officially noted and will be duly published in a list of last year's winners with their marks, (which are, of course, the present records) is added:

200 yard dash, Walter Jeffrey, 2:35 secs.
220 yards, A. Newell, 2:50.
440 yards, Eric Cushing, 1 min., 55 secs.
880 yards, Joe Moore, 2 mins., 30-1-5 secs.
1 mile, Joe Moore, 5 mins., 35 secs.
1200 shot, Dan Sutherland, 4 ft., 3-1-2 ins.
Standing High Jump, Dan Sutherland, 4 ft., 4 ins.
Running High Jump, Eric Cushing, 5 ft., 2 ins.
Standing Broad Jump, Don MacFarlane, 5 ft., 1-2-2 ins.
2 Standing Jumps, J. J. Macdougall, 25 ft., 1-2 ins.
Potato Race, Joe Sanders, 33-2-5 secs.
Relay Race, Interclass, a new event.

Of these men all but "Big Mac" are back in college and all but Don MacFarlane are already out and getting into condition. Don has been held up by military and other work, but has not the least idea of dropping his title without a struggle. A lot of most satisfactory marks have already been made in practice and it is practically certain that at least three records will go. In the sprints little can be foretold, though the quarter-mile mark is likely to go. In the half-mile and the mile, Joe Moore, his record is determined by his present position, but with Gerrie, Macdormot, Mills, and others to push him, he may well have to bring his marks down a bit.

Dan Sutherland is the only likely possibility for a new shot-put record, but Hutchinson, Hovey, Kemp and others are all bound to have a try. The jumps are the likeliest openings. Dan Sutherland's record of 4 ft., 4 ins. in the stand high jump has been beaten by both Klein, 19 inch track team man, and Lee, a newcomer, altogether Ben Klein went 4 ft., 6 ins., and Lee 4 ft., 5 ins. In the running high, Don Smeizer has made 5 ft., 3 ins., with Dan Sutherland, made, Anfield, Dean, Cushing, Lowery, Klein and Green all doing 5 feet or better, mostly better. This event promises to be one of the most exciting and keenly contested one on the card.

Big Mac's record in the 3 standing broad jumps is also in danger. MacLeod, of '16, has several times done well over 27 feet, while Smeizer and Lowery are doing almost as well. However, if the winner here breaks the record, he certainly deserves to have his name inscribed in the college "Bible." In the standing broad, Don Smeizer is again in the limelight, having beaten the record in practice with a jump of 9 ft., 7-1-2 ins., while MacLeod has made 9 ft., 5 ins., but a half inch short of Don MacFarlane's mark.

Finally, the potato race trials have unearthed a new star. Last year, Joe Sanders set a mark which was considered as something pretty classy, but Klein Monday, Karl Forbes, of '16, 17, out for the first time, came within 2-5 of a second of Sanders' mark, incidentally beating Sanders himself. However, Joe is far from remaining down,

The following men have each scored one: Hall, Morrison, Orchard, Work, Galarneau, Badaux, Birrell, Dandur, and Lavigne, Ledoux, Rooney, Mel-drum, McGill, Slater.

Old and New Stars Are Out to Try and Lower Marks of Last Year's Meet

Yesterday was an off-day as far as actual practice for the indoor track meet was concerned, but all fears as to the possibility of the day itself being a failure were smothered by the sight of the swarm of men who turned out on Monday. The gym floor itself had a capacity class, while over twenty fellows more were at work in the gallery. It is practically certain now that elimination trials will be held on Monday, February 1st, so that there is little over a week now to train in. This is not to discourage any who intend to turn out, but have not yet done so, as the time has been so short since the organization of the meet that nobody is down to road form as yet. Besides the jumps and the sprints, only a week to make good, so get out and get into the swim.

To-day is the next gym day, and if the crowd overflows the large gymnasium, why there is a smaller one upstairs. There will be as rather shortened drill for a start, and then short-jumps, shot-putting, etc. Walter Jeffrey, who holds the 20 yard Dash record is coming out this afternoon. He is already in fair shape with boxing and wrestling, but intends to take no chances. Fraser, Macdormot and Hutchinson, who were all out on Monday for the first time, are coming out again, while all the old standbys, Dan Sutherland, Don Smeizer, Eric Cushing, Bill Gerrie, etc., will be out again.

Entry lists have been made up, and will be found in both the Union and the Strathcona Hall. Big Chief Lamb will have another list in his possession, as also will Eric Cushing and Dan Sutherland. TRI-COLOR WILL PLAY IN OTTAWA SATURDAY NIGHT

Queen's Hockey Team to Meet the Aberdeens of Ottawa in Exhibition Game

Next Saturday night, the Queen's University hockey team will play the Aberdeens of Ottawa, at the Arena, in the Capital City, and from the advanced reports of the strength of the Queen's team, and the showing already made by the Aberdeens, the game should be one of the best amateur attractions of the year in Ottawa. The Kingston team has beaten McGill in the intercollegiate series, they also defeated the fast Victorias of the O.H.A., besides defeating the crack Crimson team of Harvard University. Queen's were champions last year in the Intercollegiate Union and have the same team on the ice again this season.

The visitors will run an excursion to Ottawa, bringing down with them about three hundred people. Three hundred tickets have been sent to the Aberdeens for their supporters. There are many ex-students of the university in training at Lansdowne Park for the third Canadian contingent, and they have all announced their intention of witnessing the game and cheering for their old Alma Mater.

The line-up of the two teams follows:
Arts '15—Le, Henry, Symonds, Hall, W. Henry, Martin, Maguire, Rutherford, Nicholson.
Arts '16—Gold, Kerr, Steve Allan, T. Ritchie, Maguire, Cassidy, MacDermot.

In a fast and exciting game of hockey at noon yesterday, the Med. 19 class team trimmed Med. 18 by 7 goals to 3.

BATTALION DRILL HELD LAST NIGHT N. C. OS. GIVE EXHIBITION DRILL

Splendid Work Done in Musketry Drill Under Sgt.-Maj. Roper,
And in Platoon Drill Under Major Magee

Owing to the John R. Mott meetings commencing Thursday evening, C and D Companies drill was changed to last night, thus making last night's parade a battalion parade. The men fell in at 7.15 at the old High School, under the command of Lieut.-Col. Robert Starke and headed by the band, the battalion marched to the Craig street armory via Dorchester and St. Lawrence streets.

On arrival at the armory the non-commissioned officers were formed into a platoon in the centre of the floor and the rest of the men were formed around the walls where they were allowed to sit down. Under Battalion Sergeant-Major Roper, the N.C.O.'s were then put through musketry exercises. The manner in which these were performed reflects great credit on both the instructors and the N.C.O.'s following the musketry exercises, Major A. A. Magee put the men through platoon drill. This was also done through in a very snappy manner, the different formations and movements being carried out with quickness and precision.

On the conclusion of this drill, the Battalion reformed and, headed by the band, marched back to the armory along the Main and St. Catherine St. The Battalion was then dismissed without going into the armory. It is understood that all men who desire to attend the Mott meetings will be excused from any drills that might interfere.

LORD KITCHENER.

(Liverpool Courier.)

Nothing wider of the mark has appeared in print for a long time than the report that Lord Kitchener may leave the War Office to take active command in the field of the new army that bears his name. There has been some talk of this kind, but it was purely speculative and irresponsible. People who are at all in the know understand well enough that until peace comes, Lord Kitchener is simply indispensable in his present office. Great soldier though he is, he is yet greater as an organizer. When the Kitchener Army joins Sir John French's veterans at the front, Lord Kitchener's work at home will not be done by any means. His genius will be needed more than ever for the control of the vast organization necessary for the military sustenance of so vast a force on the Continent.

:: WAR SUMMARY ::

These Articles Are Specially Written for the McGill Daily and will be Published each Day.

FRANCE

In the west of France the British are inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. In the vicinity of La Basse the British and French are fighting in conjunction with one another and are making steady and marked progress. The Germans, however, are making very determined attacks along all the western battlefront. They are also concentrating large forces at Louvain and Courrier in Namur province. The Allies are quite prepared for any moves which may be made in that direction.

The initiative in the western theatre of war, has rested entirely with the Germans during the past two or three days. At some points they have made as many as five unsuccessful attacks in the one day. The enemy were successful in one region. In the vicinity of Craonne they managed to penetrate the Allies' lines, and capture a line of trenches. The Belgians have made some definite progress in the vicinity of the Yser.

RUSSIA

The Germans have been decisively defeated before Mlawa, and are in full retreat to Soldau. The Russian right wing is following up the retreating forces of the enemy on the right bank of the Vistula. This throws the main body of the Russians into the advance, and the result is that the whole main force is now marching upon the Prussian frontier. The Germans are reported to be entirely on the defensive.

BUKOWINA

Large forces of Russian troops are now being poured into Bukovina to meet the Austrian army concentrated on the Bukovina — Hungary frontier. More than 250,000 men have been concentrated at this point by the Russians alone. It is stated that the Russian General Staff made a serious mistake in not getting possession of Bukovina and the Borgo Pass at an earlier moment. However, they are doing their best to get control now.

ENGLAND

It is stated that the British War Office expects a Zeppelin raid at any time now. It is thought probable that the Germans will retaliate for their defeat at sea on Sunday last. The reports from Berlin still claim that a British cruiser and two torpedo boats were sunk by them. The War Office denies this most emphatically. The Kaiser celebrates his 56th birthday on Wednesday and it is predicted in England that he will endeavour to make that day a memorable one for the British. Hence the expectation of a German Zeppelin raid.

THE CZAR OF RUSSIA.

(From the Hamilton Times.)

Andrew Carnegie pays tribute to the Czar of Russia in connection with the Hague tribunal, when he says: "It was summoned by the present Russian Czar to whom the world owes an unpayable debt. He desired the powers to devise if possible, a means to put an end to the incessant armaments, and to seek a means of warding off the calamities threatening the whole world. Twenty-six nations responded to this first call; to his second call no less than forty-four attended. May it be his privilege soon to call the third Congress and thus, perhaps, perform the greatest service ever permitted to man." No doubt the Czar is as much an advocate of peace as ever he was, although since then he has been engaged in two wars.

When peace is declared, Canada will experience one of the greatest booms that she has ever known in her commercial history.

This is the opinion of almost all students of economic conditions who have given this matter careful thought.

To supply the needs caused by the loss and destruction of the war our factories in every line will be working overtime.

As a result labor will be scarce, money will be plentiful and will begin to circulate freely, which is bound to benefit every line of business.

Naturally the advertiser in any line who by advertising keeps his goods before the public will be the greatest benefactor.

It is the advertisers that make it possible for you to have the McGill Daily.
